This order form is intended for those that would like to receive a single delivery of wheat berries to store and mill/process at home. If berries are stored in a cool, dry and dark location they can last for several years, although we like to use berries within a year. If you don't have a good storage location please consider signing up for the monthly CSA instead. Also, make sure to buy enough to last until next season as we hope to sell out soon and may not have more available until next August. The orders will be ready for pick up on September 9th, 2010.

For more details about the wheat and our growing methods please see the description in the 2010/2011 Grain CSA Sign-Up Form.
